PRIVATE RESIDENCE (PANCHKULA)

01

As a core entrepreneur at heart, the client wanted to use his residence to enhance his brand value and his lifestyle, and wanted to use the residential premises for frequent socialising events which he prefers to host at his residence. The intent was to bring the aesthetics and services of refined hospitality to the residential level and create an atmosphere of overwhelming warmth and affluent spaces around.

The facade is designed to be modern and bold so as to make a distinct visual presence in any surrounding. Fusion of interiors into the guest room spaces and youthful lounging spaces in the basement are some of the unique features of this house.

The challenge of retaining the sanctity of a residential space into the most opulent spaces was overcome by sheer design effort to evolve a solution wherein the public and party areas do not overshadow private spaces of the residents.

There are no openable windows in the residence as the client explicitly didn't want them. A mechanical HVAC system was implemented to supply treated fresh air into the house and continually exhaust the stale air. Even when the rooms are unoccupied, a predefined temperature is maintained to provide desired freshness levels.
